Northern Croc is an all-natural skin protector. A single application is safe for the skin and the environment

The Story of Northern Croc

herbal insect repellent

Northern Croc is an all-natural skin protectorant that contains NO DEET and NO CITRONELLA. A single application protects you and your family for hours, yet it's safe for the skin and the environment.

A family business.

The development of this wonderful product came from a family owned business that provides high quality herbal-based products for people and animals. The company includes an herbalist and a pharmacologist, with the knowledge and expertise to insure the integrity of our products.

An old world recipe.

Northern Croc was developed in the summer of 2002. Jude (the herbalist) came upon an Old World Recipe for an herbal skin protectorant. Intrigued, she went into her organic herb garden and gathered the required herbs to try the recipe with her herb class. A true herbalist, Jude refined the recipe to come up with a nontoxic oil, suitable for use on humans and animals that smelled good, was earth friendly and could be made with organic herbs. Finally with a Canadian touch, Northern Croc is now perfected.

Works well as an 'after bite' itch reliever.

Tested in the Canadian north.

The developers feel confident and pleased that they have developed a product that is safe, effective, natural, organic, nontoxic . . . and earth friendly.

The Developers

Jude: Herbalist and Educator - Jude has more than 30 year's experience in natural sciences, working with children and adults.
